

Physical – Changes in body size and height and growth of sexual characteristics and body hair

Mental – Changes in thinking abilities, able to think more about the future and better understanding about how some things might cause other things to happen

Emotional – Changes in the experience and expression of feelings, stronger sense of self and desires

Social – Changes in relationships to people, friends become more important and an increased interest in being independent